BRINGING LIFE TO YOUR LESSONS WITH THE CHURCH MAGAZINES

Church Magazines

Prepared for the CES conference on the New Testament at Brigham Young University

The Church magazines can be a tremendous asset to seminary and institute of religion teachers. The Church magazines are current, contain the latest counsel from Church leaders on a variety of topics, and show the gospel in action in the lives of ordinary Latter-day Saints. The magazines can be the basis for numerous discussions and learning activities.

Past issues of the Ensign, New Era, Friend, and Liahona (in English) are now available on the Church's web site at www.lds.org. The latest issues will be added to the site ninety days after the print publications are distributed.

NEW ERA

- Each issue of the New Era contains condensed versions of conference talks or other talks by General Authorities, just for youth.
- "Words of the Prophet," published quarterly since January 1998, is a compilation of quotes from President Gordon B. Hinckley on a given subject. This section is great for lesson enrichment, devotional topics, or posting in the classroom.
- Use New Era departments as springboards for class discussion and activities:
 - Have students answer the "Q&A" question and share their answers. Or come up with your own lesson-related question and have students create an answer.
 - Come up with your own list to fit the "Idea List" topic.
 - Brainstorm and create Mormonad posters on current topics of study.
- Ask class members to write a paragraph or two about their favorite scripture, hero from the scriptures, or hymn. These assignments can be kept in a journal or sent to the New Era for possible publication.
- Hold a "New Era Bowl," a competition in which everyone reads the same issue of the magazine and then answers questions about what they have read.
- The music published several times a year in the New Era is great for devotionals, firesides, or morningsides.
- Use the index in the December issue to locate articles on any topic.
- Beginning in November 2000, the New Era will contain a semiannual Young Men and Young Women resource guide.

Is your class doing something unusual to learn the scripture mastery scriptures? Have you had a missionary experience in your class? Is one of your class members doing something noteworthy? Call, write, or e-mail the New Era (numbers and addresses are listed on the inside front cover of the magazine). The New Era might be able to cover a story in your hometown.

ENSIGN

- Use the index of general conference addresses in the May and November Ensign conference issues to find the latest counsel from Church leaders on a wide variety of topics.
- Skim each month's Ensign to find what topics are covered in the "First Presidency Message" and other articles by members of the Quorum of the Twelve, members of the Seventy, and other Church leaders.
- Each issue contains Christ-centered resources. The Easter (April) and Christmas (December) issues of the Ensign are particularly good resources for Christ-centered materials.
- Each issue has an article supporting the Sunday School's annual adult curriculum. Read these accounts with an eye to supporting the lessons you are teaching.
- Each issue includes accounts of the gospel in action in the lives of members around the world, stories that will support the gospel principles you teach in your lessons.
- The Ensign regularly publishes articles on Church-sponsored historical sites and contemporary Church history occurring in the nations of the earth.
- Each month the Ensign publishes an article on either marriage relationships or parenting. These articles may prove helpful as resources for institute of religion classes on courtship and marriage.
- Would it be helpful to know the latest counsel to local leaders and teachers of the Melchizedek and Aaronic Priesthood, Sunday School, Relief Society, Young Women, and Primary? The "Perspectives" section in the February, March, August, and September issues of the Ensign provide this information.
- Want to know the content of the "Teachings for Our Time" lesson for the fourth Sunday of each month in Melchizedek Priesthood and Relief Society? Beginning in November 2000, each May and November conference issue will provide that information.
- Would it be helpful to know the content of each month's Relief Society visiting teaching message? You can find it in the Ensign.
- Here is a real time-saver: At the end of most Ensign articles is a list of gospel topics discussed in the article. Each December issue also carries an index for the topics from that year's issue (not including conference issues).
